Venezuelans Jeer Nixon; Hurl Rocks, Cans at Americans

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Jeering mobs of students spat on Vice President Nixon today and grabbed at Mrs. Nixon before police using tear gas drove them away. It was the most hostile reception the Nixons had received in their South American tour.

Rioters spat on Nixon as he arrived at the airport from Colombia, and then hurled tin cans and rocks at his car in downtown Caracas.

One youth grabbed Mrs. Nixon as she sought to enter the car, and yelled "Little Rock! Little Rock!" A Negro man shouted at Nixon: "Democracy! You don't like Negroes there."

Youths in the crowd shook their fists at the Nixons, crying: "Get out! Get out!"

Besides Nixon, Oscar Garcia, the foreign minister, and other Venezuelan authorities were spat upon. The foreign minister was livid with fury.

THE VICE president, winding up his tour of South America, arrived here amid rumors that he was to be the victim of an assassination attempt. In advance of his arrival, Venezuelan authorities had discounted these reports and given assurances that Nixon would be well guarded.

One tear gas bomb exploded about 25 feet from Nixon's car.

Nixon's car was stalled in the traffic jam and a mob of youths rushed on it, pounding on the doors, spitting and throwing rocks.

The jam was broken only after police exploded tear gas and an emergency detachment of soldiers rushed up.

A jeering, screaming mob of about 500 teen-agers met the Nixon plane at the airport.

As he entered the car they repeatedly spat on him and his car. He and Mrs. Nixon virtually had to fight their way into the caravan carrying them up a mountain road to the city.

The students carried signs, "Go Home Mr. Nixon, We Don't Forget Guatemala. No, Mr. Nixon We Don't Want You. Latin America Doesn't Want United States Intervention."

THE RECEPTION was as hostile as the one the vice president received when he tried to speak to students in Peru last week.

The rioting came on the heels of intelligence reports that the Communists might try to assassinate Nixon on his visit here. These reports were discounted by government officials.

There were only a few friendly shouts either at the airport or along Nixon's route into the city. Nixon's aides received reports from both U.S. and Venezuelan sources that there might be an attempt against his life during his two-day stay in the Venezuelan capital. One version said a university student had been hired to gun him down.

Nixon himself described it as a "routine threat" and added, "if we changed our plans every time something like this came up, we wouldn't do anything."

Police Seek Man Who Fired Shots Into House Door

PIKETON (AP)—Law enforcement officers searched today for a man who fired a gun through the door of a home, then left, threatening to come back and shoot up the place.

The State Highway Patrol said James Craigs, 50, was being sought after he fired through the door of the Arbie Nichols residence, one mile south of nearby Cynthiahana Monday night.

The patrol said Craigs had asked for Sam Fugitt, who resides there. When Nichols advised him that Fugitt wasn't there, Craigs drew a gun. Nichols slammed the door shut and jumped to one side as Craigs fired several times through the door. The patrol said Craigs wasn't hit.

Craigs then departed, saying he would be back to shoot up the house until he got Fugitt, who supposedly had stabbed him back in 1935, the patrol related.

News in Brief

Pfilimlin Asks French Backing

PARIS (AP)—Pierre Pfilimlin today asked parliament to approve him as the country's 25th postwar premier on a platform of limited home rule in strife-torn Algeria.

With the assembly benches packed and tense, the leader of the left-center Catholic Popular Republicans presented a coalition cabinet covering most of the middle road parties.

A vote was expected some time later tonight.

Pfilimlin's Algerian policy, the key issue, is essentially the same as that of his predecessors. He told the assembly that France's allies must be brought to support French policy in North Africa.

"The essential aim of our foreign policy," the 51-year-old Pfilimlin told parliament, "will be to extend Atlantic solidarity to that section of the world where the fate of France, and that of all free nations to a large degree is being determined."

WARSAW (AP)—The Soviet Union has run into trouble trying to launch a third Sputnik, a top Soviet scientist hinted Monday night.

Prof. Jurij A. Pobedonostsev said preparations for putting up a new Sputnik were nearing completion.

He was asked by a Polish newsman whether Soviet scientists ran into some kind of failure during launching attempts similar to the mishaps experienced by American rocket experts.

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—The new U.S. destroyer Blandy headed home today, her flag at half mast and the body of an unknown American soldier from World War II aboard.

The destroyer has a rendezvous off Norfolk, Va., with the missile carrier Boston, bringing the body of another unknown American World War II soldier from the Pacific.

One of the two will be buried in Arlington National Cemetery beside the body of America's Unknown Soldier of World War I. The other will be buried at sea.

The flag-draped casket of the soldier from the European Theater of Operations was chosen from among 13 Monday at the military cemetery at Epinal, and was flown here.

Youth Fires Rifle, Bullet Hits Airliner

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—A .22 caliber rifle bullet fired by a teenager struck a landing North Central Airlines DC3 Monday.

Sheriff's deputies said one of two boys, 15 and 17, shot at the plane as a prank. No charges have been filed. The boys were released to their parents.

Donald Mercer of Minneapolis, the pilot, was bringing in the two-engine ship from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., for a landing at Duluth with seven persons aboard.

The bullet ripped through the undercarriage and imbedded in padding beneath the pilot's seat.

Man Files Suit Against Himself

ATLANTA (AP)—A local man is suing himself.

Emmett E. Ison filed papers in East Point City Court to recover $87 damages in a broken auto-windshield case.

Papers were served on Ison Monday.

In filling out the papers, Ison had written his name in the wrong spot and became the defendant instead of the plaintiff.

Backs Treaties

FORMER AIR FORCE SECRETARY Thomas K. Finletter (left) told a Senate committee headed by Sen. Theodore F. Green (right) that the U. S. should press in the United Nations for peace treaties between the Arab states and Israel. He said the U. S. should make it clear that "it is national policy that Israel is here to stay."

Lebanese Rioters Continue Violence

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Rioters smashed shops, blocked the streets with flaming barricades and chased pedestrians from the sidewalks today in violent protest against Lebanon's pro-Western government.

Demonstrators roamed Beirut for the second day, following the end of an all-night curfew. Organized bands were determined to force a general strike and bring business to a standstill.

They smashed windows and wrecked shops that defied their orders to close. A few people who went out in downtown streets were scattered by the roving bands.

Fervish political maneuvering was underway in an effort to restore order. The political opposition disclaimed any responsibility for the bloodshed and violence, blaming subversive elements working in the ranks of peaceful demonstrators.

In Amman, King Hussein today pledged Jordan's support to the Lebanese government in its crisis, which he described as a battle between democracy and dictatorship.

BEFORE LEAVING his capital for Baghdad, Hussein messaged his assurances of support to President Camille Chamoun of Lebanon.

Five Lebanese customs officials were killed in an attack near the Syrian border and five more deaths were reported in today's fighting in Beirut.

This pushed the nation's death toll since the fighting started Saturday to at least 36.

Associated Press correspondent Wilton Wynn and his wife were stoned but not injured on their way into Beirut from the airport.

Security forces Monday night shot two persons for failing to halt.

The rigid curfew imposed a long night of calm after Monday's riots. The mobs in Beirut burned a U. S. Information Agency library, battled security forces, closed shops, burned buildings, set up roadblocks and generally stopped transportation.

Rioting and shooting also broke out again Monday in the North Lebanese port of Tripoli, where another U. S. library was wrecked Saturday and 11 persons were killed in fighting between rioters and police. Also in North Lebanon, two unidentified men Monday blew up a pipeline carrying oil from Iraq to Tripoli.

The disturbances were triggered by the assassination last week in Beirut of a newspaper publisher who supported U. A. R. President Nasser's goal of gathering into his domain all Arab nations, including half-Moslem, half-Christian Lebanon.

Kim and Trujillo have been seen together frequently in Hollywood since Easter. Trujillo, head of his country's air force, came to the United States to attend the U. S. Army Command and General Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

His lavish gifts drew criticism in Washington, D. C., from congressmen. Rep. Wayne Hays (D-Ohio) estimated that $1,300,000 will go to Trujillo's country if Congress passes the proposed $3.6 billion foreign aid bill. "I doubt if it makes the taxpayers happy," said Hays.

"It is his own personal money," said Trujillo's secretary, Victor Sued, of the gifts. "He owns sugar mills and has a dairy farm in the Dominican Republic."

Mideast Rioters Sack Third American Library

Ike Shudders at Thought Of New Foreign Aid Slash

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told Republican leaders today he shudders to think of the impact abroad if further cuts are made in his foreign aid program.

The leaders quoted Eisenhower as expressing that view at his weekly meeting with them. The conference was held as the House approached showdown voting on the aid measure.

House GOP Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts said he told Eisenhower he looks for the House to approve the bill in pretty much the form it came out of the foreign affairs committee.

As approved by that group, the bill authorizes $3.6 billion for mutual security — $339 million below Eisenhower's request.

Martin said he looks for a determined effort to cut the authorization further, but he predicted administration supporters generally will be able to turn back such moves.

"The President made it very clear," Martin said, "that he already shudders at the idea of any further cuts. He shudders to think how he could meet the world situation if there are any further cuts."

Preliminary voting was slated for late afternoon with passage expected Wednesday. Then it would be the Senate's turn to act.

Both Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) and Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. (Mass), the Republican leader, arranged for bipartisan pleas to their colleagues to support the program which Eisenhower says is vital for both the free world and America's own security.

Rep. Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa), acting chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee, said he was surprised at what he termed the lack of strong opposition during Monday's opening debate.

A KEY VOTE was expected to come on a proposal by Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich) to cut $340 million from the $1.6 billion the bill carries for arms and aid to 41 allies next year.

Bentley said he was not likely to win. He also called for an $85 million slash in the $185 million provided for general purpose economic aid. Rep. E. Ross Adair (R-Ind) proposed trimming the $775 million earmarked for economic support of foreign defense programs.

Rep. William A. Dawson (R-Utah) offered an amendment to require congressional committees to include their spending of U. S.-owned foreign currencies in their budgets just as they now count dollars.

The committees don't have to budget foreign money outlays now. Dawson said this would show taxpayers that congressmen don't really indulge in free-spending junkies.

Algiers Mob Destroys Books

Angry Demonstrators March on Embassy

ALGIERS (AP)—Angry demonstrators today sacked the U. S. Information Agency office here and then marched on the American Consulate.

The USIA office was almost demolished. Furniture was smashed and books thrown out of the window and torn up in the streets.

It was the third violent demonstration against American centers in the Middle East in less than a week. Monday, Lebanese rioters sacked and burned a U. S. library in Beirut and last Saturday a similar library in Tripoli was demolished.

The demonstrations reflected rising anti-American feeling in Algeria. Many French here believe the United States would like to see Algeria independent of French rule.

The demonstrators broke into the USIA office in mid-afternoon. One group of demonstrators smashed in the front. Others smashed the outside nameplate on the office, which is on the second floor of an office and apartment building.

Don Davis of Great Falls, Mont., was in the office at the time but was unhurt.

AN AMERICAN source said that the demonstrators included a number of war veterans, who are among the most outspoken right-wingers in Algeria.

Two policemen on duty near the Algiers office did not interfere. The crowd was demanding that France keep a firm hold on rebellious Algeria.

The angry crowd then headed up the street to the U. S. Consulate about a mile away.

The demonstrations in the capital of Algeria were staged by students, right wing groups and others protesting the vote of the National Assembly in Paris on the investiture of Premier-designate Pierre Pfilimlin.

Leaflets were thrown about the streets demanding that if Pfilimlin became premier the French settlers in Algeria should use all means to keep his representatives out of Algeria.

Although Pfilimlin's program for Algeria is almost identical with that of his predecessors, right wing parties claim Pfilimlin is weakening France's determination to put down the rebellion.

The USIA office is in the center of the city. It had been damaged before by a bomb attack. The U. S. consulate in Algiers, some distance from the city's center, was also the scene of a recent bomb attack. A bomb placed at the entrance blew out a door and injured a Moslem woman.

TODAY'S demonstrations came as the city's activity was brought to a standstill by a total strike. The Moslem workers stayed home and Moslem shopkeepers closed. The streets of the Arab Casbah were empty of Arabs.

The demonstration had been called for much later in the afternoon but the nervous and angry demonstrators poured in to the streets hours earlier, singing the French national anthem and chanting "Algeria is French."

2 Ohio Farmers Killed When Tractors Upset

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two Ohio farmers were killed Monday when they were crushed by their tractors while plowing.

Frank Keesmar, 77, set out to plow a field on his farm near Bowling Green.

During the day, his wife noticed she could no longer hear the tractor and went to the field to investigate. She found the machine upset in an 8-foot ditch. Keesmar died beneath it.

When his tractor overturned, Wayne R. Bell, 33, was killed as he was plowing on his farm 10 miles south of Steubenville.

Judge Prefers Chew Tobacco

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (AP)—Forsyth County Judge Hoyle Sink, irritated as gum-chewing witnesses and defendants in criminal cases testified, suddenly stopped the proceedings and told one approaching witness:

"You had better get rid of that chewing gum before you come up here. If you're going to chew anything, chew tobacco like a man."

Principal Asks Clarification Of Accusation

DAYTON (AP)—Harley Haskins, the 53-year-old school principal who went back to his job after pleading guilty to charges of abusing two girl pupils, is asking for clarification of those charges.

Haskins' attorney, Herbert M. Eikenbary of Dayton, says he will file an appeal in district court Wednesday asking clarification. Eikenbary contends the charges were not specific.

Haskins learned Monday he faces the possibility of losing his teaching license.

After conferring with M. B. Morton, superintendent of the Montgomery County school system, the state superintendent of public instruction, Dr. E. E. Holt, said the county board should review the court record of the Haskins case to determine whether the charges constitute grounds for revocation of his teaching certificate.

Morton said he is calling a meeting of the county board to review Haskins' case.

Haskins, principal of Grafton-Kennedy Elementary School in Northridge, a Dayton suburb, was fined $500 last Tuesday on each of two counts of unlawfully abusing two sixth-grade girls, one 11, the other 13. The following day, he returned to school, was met by a jubilant crowd of well-wishers and was reinstated by the local board.

Ike's OK Seen On GI Pay Boost

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower is expected to sign a bill that would start higher pay checks flowing to most members of the armed services as of June 1.

The measure, aimed at encouraging trained personnel to stay in uniform, was passed finally by the House and Senate Monday. It is generally in line with Eisenhower's recommendations.

Under its terms, virtually all servicemen with at least two years duty would get pay boosts ranging from 6 to 60 per cent, with the biggest hikes going to generals and other senior officers.

Guided Missile Plant Is Struck

POMONA, Calif. (AP)—The International Assn. of Machinists struck the Convair guided missile plant here early today. Production personnel left their jobs and picket lines were established.

The action affects 1,777 workers of a total of 4,700 hourly employees. The development came after IAM refused to accept terms of a company offer approved Sunday night by Convair employees in two San Diego, Calif., plants.

The Pomona plant produces Terrier and Tartar missiles for the Navy. Convair's San Diego plants, employing some 31,000 workers, produce the Atlas missile for the Air Force, F102 jet fighters and airline transports.

PTA Council Plans New Belle Aire Unit And Elects Officers

New officers were elected and steps were taken to organize another Parent-Teacher Assn. unit at last night's meeting of the Washington C. H. Parent-Teacher Assn. Council.

Dr. Charles Pfersick was named to head the Council next year. Other officers chosen to direct the Council with him were Mrs. Robert Lytton, vice president; Mrs. Frank Hyer, secretary, and Mrs. O. L. Ohnstad, treasurer.

This slate of candidates submitted by the nominating committee of Mrs. William Junk, Mrs. Walter Haines, Richard Whiteside, Mrs. Robert Harper and Mrs. Charles Sheridan was elected unanimously. The outgoing officers are George Inskeep, president; Mrs. Walter Rettig, vice president; Mrs. Dwight Roads, secretary, and Mrs. Robert Fortier, treasurer.

PRELIMINARY steps were taken to organize a Parent-Teacher Assn. unit for the new Belle Aire School, now under construction. Plans call for its completion and occupancy when school opens next fall and, in view of this, the Council felt that the framework for a PTA unit there should be set up this summer.

Mrs. Charles Sheridan, Mrs. Junk and Superintendent W. A. Smith were appointed as a committee to plan for the formation of a Belle Aire PTA.

POSSIBLY the highlight of the meeting was the selection of the girl who will receive the Council's $250 scholarship this year. However, the name of the girl—a senior who plans to go to college to prepare for a career in teaching—will not be announced until the scholarship is formally awarded to her at the WHS commencement.

In the past the scholarships have amounted to $200. Money for the scholarship comes from the annual school census conducted by the PTA Council. If the census fees do not reach the amount of the scholarship, the difference is made up from the Council's funds.

Last year, the Council received $248; what it will be this year will not be known until the summary of the census is completed. Under state law, the school pays 10 cents a name for the census.

Supt. Smith reminded the gathering that the annual pre-school roundup will be held Friday afternoon. This is the time when the mothers bring their children, who will start to school next fall, to school. They also are to bring their children's birth certificates and an information sheet with which they have been provided.

The roundup is scheduled for the Central, Cherry Hill and Eastside schools at 1:15 p. m. and the Sunnyside and Rose Avenue schools at 1:45 p. m. Friday.

The PTA Council is made up of the officers of the five PTA units and principals of the five elementary schools.

Horsley was sentenced on two counts of breaking - and - entering, each carrying a sentence of 1-15 years; and two counts of grand larceny, each having a penalty of 1-7 years in prison.

The sentencing and imprisonment of Horsley means that only one man of a quintet indicted together in Greene County, is not in prison now.

He is Guy Spurlock, 20, Sabina, placed on probation for two years at a recent Greene County probation hearing.

Guy Spurlock is the only one of the five not implicated in a Fayette County breaking - and - entering incidents.

One of the other members of the group was Floyd Hodge, 22, of Sabina, sentenced to serve one term of 1-15 years in the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield.

The other two members of the quintet, Wayne Spurlock, 18, and Bill Hammond, 20, both of Sabina, were sentenced April 26 to the Mansfield Reformatory. Hammond drew a 1 to 15 year term from breaking and entering, and Spurlock, four concurrent 1 - to - 15 year terms.

SONG WRITER IS 70 — Irving Berlin, celebrating his 70th birthday at his retreat in New York's Catskill Mountains, says he is looking forward to writing a new musical show. The composer of some 850 songs said the coming year is just a musical phase in a life-long melody. (International)

News Briefs

BONN, Germany — A string of Nike anti-aircraft rocket bases will be built in forward areas of West Germany to bolster Western Europe's air defenses, Allied military sources reported today.

The bases will be located within 60 miles of the Iron Curtain, the informants said.

MONTREAL — Courts in both east and west Canada dealt a sharp blow Monday night to the firemen's strike against the Canadian Pacific Railroad.

Most damaging was an injunction by British Columbia's Supreme Court ordering firemen to stop picketing all CPR operations in the far western province.

The British Columbia court also issued an order forbidding firemen from trying to persuade other CPR employees to walk off their jobs in violation of their union contracts. Similar injunctions were ordered by courts in Sudbury, Ont., and Moose Jaw, Sask.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen called the walkout Sunday in an effort to halt the railroad's plan to remove firemen gradually from diesel freight and yard engines. The dispute is being closely watched by U.S. lines which also have switched to oil-burning diesels and claim they no longer need coal-shoveling firemen.

The strike involves some 3,000 firemen.

MANCHESTER, England — Britain's biggest consignment of Salk vaccine from the United States arrived by special plane today to speed this country's fight against polio. The government will wipe out the backlog waiting for inoculations before the summer peak-infection months. The consignment will be enough for two million injections.

SANTIAGO, Chile — Chile has conditionally accepted President Eisenhower's invitation to a conference to write a pact keeping Antarctica a neutral preserve for peaceful scientific research, a government source said Monday night. Japan and South Africa earlier accepted the U. S. invitation to 11 nations, including Russia, for discussions of a pact.

LONDON — Moscow radio said today a Soviet scientific expedition has found a vast mountain range on the bed of the Pacific between Antarctica and South Africa.

Flood Hits Panhandle

DALLAS — Floods from rains measuring up to 10 inches drained from the streets of Clarendon, 50 miles southeast of Amarillo, in the Panhandle today after chasing 15 families from low homes in the north section.

Although fish produce millions of eggs every year, only one or two of the offspring live long enough to reach full reproductive maturity.

Red Economic War on West Starts To Hurt

World's Metal Mart Jolted a Bit by Russian Exports

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Russia's economic war with the West—long pooh-poohed by American exporters—is beginning to hurt a little in at least one sector. World metal markets have been jolted a bit by Russian exports.

This comes at a time when American metal producers already are having troubles enough of their own.

Aluminum, tin, platinum and zinc as well as some of the steel alloys have felt the competition. And some of the price weakness in these metals is traced to an outpouring of Russian metal, especially into Western Europe.

The Russians can set their own prices—usually below the prevailing world price—because Soviet bookkeeping isn't hampered by such things as the cost of production or the need to break even.

There's no way of knowing Moscow's intentions: Whether Russia simply is producing more now and wants to sell surpluses to get funds needed for purchases of Western goods, or whether it is dumping the metal with a view to upsetting world markets and thus adding to whatever effect the American recession is having on Europe.

But Khrushchev boasts he plans to take world markets away from the United States, and the flurry in metals may be the first of these economic brush wars.

The price of platinum has just dropped here. The reason given by the trade is that Russia is selling the metal in Europe at cut prices and the competition must be met.

United Nations officials report that Russia is now entering the world markets as an exporter of tin. Other countries—Belgian Malaya and Thailand—have had this market to themselves. Already the price structure of the metal is weak, and production in the non-Communist world cut back so that the new competition is disturbing. The U. N. reports that last year the Soviets exported 6,613 tons of tin to western Europe for about 15 million dollars, compared with only 346 tons the year before. Some put current exports at 10,000 tons.

Whether the Soviet tin is coming from new ore discoveries in Russia, from China or from East Germany is not known.

It's Time To Celebrate; It's 'Tax Freedom Day'

EDITOR'S NOTE: Are you still smarting from the effects of April 15, when you paid your annual tribute to Uncle Sam? Then this story should provide some balm because the money you earn for the rest of the year is theoretically your very own.

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Newsfeature Writer
"You've worked for me all year, nephew; now you can go out and work for yourself."

That's the cheering word Uncle Sam has for all us surly taxpayers today as he and his friends quietly slip their hands out of our pockets.

The occasion is National Tax Freedom Holiday, the first day in 1938 on which the taxpayer can call his earned dollar his own.

Until today every dollar earned by the average taxpayer theoretically has gone into government tills from the local town hall to the U. S. Treasury.

The observance of Tax Freedom Day is 10 years old but few people are aware of it. There's little attendant fanfare. Why?

"The taxpayers can't afford it," says T. S. Burnett, president of the California Taxpayers' Assn.,

one of the day's tax-conscious sponsors.

National Tax Freedom Holiday was originated in 1948 by Dallas L. Hostetler, executive director of the Florida State Retailers' Assn. It is designed, says Hostetler, "to dramatize the over-all tax burden which the average American is carrying."

Overland Arguing For Return of Tax

TOLEDO (AP)—Overland Corp. began arguments in a U. S. Tax Court Monday in an effort to recover approximately $12 million it claims it paid in excess profits tax for manufacture of Jeep vehicles during World War II.

Willis Motors, Inc., is not involved in the proceedings. It now is a subsidiary of the Kaiser Corp.

Attorneys for Overland contend that the research and development, around which Willlys standardized Jeep, resulted in abnormal income within a certain section of the Internal Revenue Code. They hold that this income should be allocated back to the years of 1938 through 1942.

Tax Freedom Day is a movable holiday which, thus far, has proven to be movable largely in one direction—forward. It has reached the 133rd day now, more than one-third through the year.

The first Tax Freedom Day was observed April 27, 1948. Last year the date was May 10. Had there been such a day in 1920, it would have been Feb. 28.

The date is figured by a simple mathematical formula.

Take the estimated total tax receipts of all governments in the United States—125 billion dollars. Divide that by the estimated personal income of all the people in the United States—342.8 billion. Answer: 36.4 per cent.

Now take 36.4 per cent of the 365-day year. Answer: 133 days. The 133rd day of the year is May 13.

April Building Permits Total $64,600

Seventeen building permits were issued by the city auditor's office during April. The sum of construction costs listed for all of the buildings was $64,600.

Only one of the permits were for a commercial structure. James G. Carter of 848 Columbus Ave. received permission to construct an $8,000 building.

Receiving permit for residential construction were H. R. Roby, 434 Gregg St. $1,500 construction; Mark Schaeper of Golfview Dr., $12,000; Carl Merritt, Leesburg Ave., $11,000; W. J. Ross, Fourth St. $11,500; and Eva Thornton, 1032 Briar Ave., $9,700.

REMODELING permits were issued to Dr. J. H. Persinger, 520 N. North St., $700, private residence remodeling; Elden Kirk, 414 W. Elm St., $200, move and extend garage; Joe Gray, 624 Gibbs Ave., $500, additional utility room;

Vincent Lee, 321 Forest St., $750, remodel roof; Glenn Roberts, 613 Clinton Ave., $150, tool shed; Albert Donahue, 1103 Sycamore St., $500, breezeway; Charles W. Clay, 1120 Sycamore St., $3,500, additional bedroom, and $1,500, garage; Robert Massie, 830 Rawlings St., $800, additional utility room; Homer Wilson Jr., 833 S. Main St., $800, garage; Elmer Simeral, 814 Rawlings St., $1,500, additional bathroom.

Coeds Glow When Their Dads Join Gala College Affairs

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Staff Writer

Are you a Real Dad or a Slouch? You can tell which by whether you accept an invitation to be daughter's date for a weekend and shake the rheumatiz out of your old brief case.

Sumner Rider, New York business executive, responded to daughter's plea to attend Dad's weekend at Wells College, Aurora, N. Y., as a fatherly good deed. Now he can't wait for return engagements.

"I've been to two of these events," says Rider, whose 20-year-old daughter Lynn is a junior, "and it's better therapy than a vacation at health farm. The girls have every minute planned, there are a million laughs, and a lot of regrets that it can't last longer."

A father who has never been inveigled into the inner sanctums of a girl's school doesn't know what he's missing, Rider says.

"It isn't just the fun the Dads have that counts either," he explains. "Girls spend a good deal of their early years with their mothers, and at college age need to be acquainted with their fathers. It gives them a chance to know each other and for Dad to know daughter's companions."

When Lynn's friends come to the Rider's home, they are known by their first names, and Rider has met their fathers at the college functions.

"That too, is one of the interesting aspects of these weekends," he says. "The fathers become good friends, see each other socially, and have a whale of a good time when they get together at the school."

One sad feature of these weekends is that some Dads just don't show, Rider adds.

"When a father doesn't put in an appearance, his daughter is very disappointed, usually leaves the campus for the weekend, rather than face up to the gaiety."

Girls who do not have Dads sometimes share a father with another girl.

"What would we ever do with our mothers?"

Man Held for Rape Sued for Divorce

Joseph Earl Gardner, 27, now in the county jail awaiting grand jury action on a charge that he raped his 10-year-old stepdaughter, was sued for divorce in Common Pleas Court Monday by Louella M. Gardner, 423 Forest St., the mother of the girl he is accused of mistreating.

They were married March 20, 1952, in Gallipolis.

Mrs. Gardner charges gross neglect and cruelty in her petition for divorce. She asks exclusive custody of their own 5-year-old minor child and both temporary and permanent alimony.

Our Economic Salvation Depends On People

On numerous occasions we have been asked one stand-out question: — "Are the people of the United States smart enough to learn by experience?"

It might also be asked that even though they are smart enough to learn, will they be intelligent enough to profit by experience?

Samuel Lubell, an analyst of the state of mind in the United States, says that "the public's strongest single desire is for a halt in the upward spiral of prices, wages, and profits"—that people are strongly opposed to another nation-wide round of wage boosts because they would mean price boosts.

In a statement before the Senate Finance Committee, Bernard M. Baruch said: "We are now suffering a hangover after a long inflationary binge. As is always the case with hangovers, we have only ourselves to blame. More of the 'hair of the dog' is no remedy. It only increases suffering and delays recovery."

"If industry and labor continue to push up wage, price and profit levels, they will price themselves out of the market. Consumer resistance will grow, further depressing economic activity and adding to unemployment."

"Nothing would be more effective in turning the tide than to halt the never-ending spiral of wages and prices. The best stimulant to our economy would come from price reductions. The consumer, who has no lobby or bargaining agent, is belatedly rebelling against having every wage and cost increase passed on to him.

"In the last analysis, we face a test of character and common sense. . . Nothing is more dangerous than this notion that economic salvation lies through government intercession. . . Let us not turn always to the government for succor, but remember rather that a free government depends always upon the people for sustenance."

Nearly all over the world inflation has proven one of the most dangerous threats to national safety and solvency. History definitely proves this.

Those in our own country, and in our own communities, who remember the last big depression of nearly three decades ago, will recall how nearly everyone seemed to get the idea that prosperity could not fade away; that nothing would happen no matter how financially reckless they became.

Well something did happen and it took us a long time to get over it. This is one reason for giving due thought now to the warnings stemming from today's inflationary trends.

2-Legged, Half-Shelled Egg

NEW YORK (AP) — She breaks into the room, glowing with the health of almost-five. No energy higher.

Or she sags into the room, like something pushed into our family light from outer dark. At almost-five — her own age and the hour — she has 10-o'clock shadow.

She melts upon the doorstep, worn out human butter, yells for the bathroom, then, later, at the entrance to her bedroom pleads against the indignity of a night that seals a day.

As a father I never am quite sure whether she has been drained by Dracula or whether she is Dracula. Are all children like this? Other parents say yes. I still wonder.

The bread I earn by my sweat to bring home to make her stronger she often leaves by her plate. But to her I am the boy who may have gum in his pockets when he arrives at twilight. This is a hero?

It is one of the great titanic struggles of my life to deal with this thing, this spawn of time, this one-hearted, two-legged half-shelled egg, this creature that weeps and laughs and cries and plots and is my daughter.

It is called and answers to the name of Tracy. It was optimistically labeled at baptism Margaret Tracy Ann Kathleen Boyle. In play it refers to itself as Susan. In wistful moments it says, "I'm Margaret." This is the name of its paternal grandmother.

Ask a kiss from it and you get none. Insist you won't take any and get a wet face.

It must be around four feet or so tall, weighs about 50 pounds, unless you lift it. Then it is eight feet tall and weighs 1,617,312½ pounds.

It is also known by other aliases. A favorite is Cinderella, in which disguise, when asked to pick up its clothing, it has a set answer, plaintive but genteel, "Well, I can't be everywhere."

One who knows her wonders whether this isn't an understatement. In dealing with a child of this age a grownup has only two worries—what she is up to if you can see her, what she might be up to if you can't see her.

By almost-five you feel you can put some faith in her. You feel she has a sense of caution and won't do these things: Taste medicine, stand in a window, step into the street.

And yet what will she do in a single day? She will hold medicine to her mouth and ask, "Shall I?" She'll climb to the window. She'll run to the street and hold a foot over the pavement or maybe even put it down. But all before your eye.

You know she's daring you and herself. You know she's exploring your authority and why.

By Hal Boyle

Again you tell her the reasons for the rules, and you put a hardness and a softness into your voice. You tell her that if she ever breaks these few rules she'll hurt herself and that if she hurts herself she'll hurt you.

By this slender string of faith all your discipline hangs on if you aren't there—that the child will follow the rules you made, not so much from fear of hurting itself but you, the home of love.

Confidence is a hard thing to put in any human being at any age, and it's always a matter of timing—when and to whom. But you have to.

At almost-five Tracy Ann, like a field dog, strains the outer limits of the leash one moment, the next comes back and chews at the thongs of the love she would not be without. All cubs play at life and freedom until . . .

She still sucks her thumb when she is sleepy, but she already has two boy friends (one down the hall, one at school) and she is as dear as many remembered yesterdays and as far away as many unknown tomorrows.

Every day I wonder what will happen to her.

When you get right down to it, parenthood has an odd perspective: You see ahead to fall behind. The nearer you feel to children the farther you realize they are.

Political Outlook in the East

In New York state the Republican party is gradually accepting the domination of United States Sen. Jacob Javits. The other United States senator, Irving Ives, who comes up for reelection this year, takes in his stride philosophically and remotely the problems of the day.

The task of the Republican party in 1958 is to elect a governor in the place of Averell Harriman, who is a Democrat.

Harriman will run for reelection. He may have as his senatorial nominee either Robert F. Wagner, mayor of New York City, Frank S. Hogan, the district attorney of New York County, or the Rooseveltian postmaster general James A. Farley.

If Farley runs, he will attract many Republican votes, no matter who the Republican candidate is. It is not believable that any one of these men would fail to get the Liberal party endorsement, although David Dubinsky and Alex Rose, two labor leaders who once that party, might be embarrassed if Nelson Rockefeller runs on the Republican ticket either for governor or senator.

If Rockefeller runs, Javits cannot lose. Should Rockefeller run for governor and be elected, he would be in the same general grouping of the party with Javits whose claim to patronage and control of the state committee he would not oppose.

Should Rockefeller be defeated, Javits will have been the last Republican to have been elected to a statewide office.

Javits is energetic, aggressive, opportunistic and inordinately ambitious. His singleness of purpose could leave Javits fully in control but with a reduced party to follow him.

Two other candidates will present themselves for the governorship, Louis Lefkowitz, attorney general of the state of New York and at this moment the only Republican in the state administration, and Leonard Hall formerly chairman of the Republican National Committee, who had assumed that he had the endorsement of the Eisenhower administration.

An important factor in this situation which cannot be disregarded is the position of Thomas E. Dewey, whose influence in New York State remains enormous. It will not be easy for anyone to be nominated of whom Dewey altogether disapproves.

Dewey would like to see Harriman defeated not only because Harriman is a Democrat of the New Deal persuasion, but it would appear, by circumstantial evidence, that the gentleman has a distaste for each other. It would not be characteristic of Dewey to support anyone for the nomination who did not have a fair chance to be elected.

Republican chances are not too bright anywhere in the Northeast. For instance, in Connecticut, the Democratic governor, Abraham Ribicoff, is unusually popular and can carry his party in on his coat-tails.

The Democratic candidates for the nomination for United States senator include Chester Bowles and Thomas Dodd who have earned a degree of popularity.

The Republican party which has been badly split now seems to have achieved a degree of unification, but it will take a complete recovery from the depressed economic conditions to overcome the effects of Democratic progress in a state which has had a long history of Republican control.

Of course, the population of Connecticut has changed ethnologically from the Anglo-Saxon predominance which made the Connecticut Yankee a rare type to a very mixed population of Eastern and Southern European origin.

Massachusetts may now be regarded as a Democratic state. Little is left of the atmosphere in which the Lowells spoke only to the Cabots and the Cabots spoke only to God. It is a state of very mixed populations and small adherence to past traditions.

In New Jersey, the primary election this past winter split the Republican party in many ways and strengthened the power of Gov. Meyner, who is an ascendant place in the 1960 presidential election.

Pennsylvania Republicans do not particularly want Harold Stassen as their candidate for governor, but Stassen wants to run and there is no way of stopping him. The court action, designed to designate him as a carpetbagger, will not keep Stassen down.

His eyes are on 1960 when he hopes to be able to challenge Vice President Nixon, a challenge which will serve no other purpose than to split the Republican party. Should Stassen be elected governor of Pennsylvania, he will surely be a candidate for the nomination for the presidency.

The Civil War, which used to make votes, and Abraham Lincoln, who freed the slaves, are no longer an issue.

Bender Said Slated For Old GOP Post

CLEVELAND (AP)—Former U. S. Sen. George H. Bender is to resume his old post as co-chairman of the Republican Party's Cuyahoga County organization.

At Wednesday's party convention, the Cleveland News said, Bender will nominate A. L. (Sonny) DeMaio, the present county chief, as chairman of both the central and executive committee. In turn, Bender will be named vice chairman of both committees.

Bender also said he plans to resign his government post. He now is serving as a special consultant to the Interior Department at $75 per day. He added he expects to be offered another key spot within the government in the near future but hasn't decided whether to accept it.

Diet and Health Battle of the Virus Still Far from Won

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

WHAT is medicine's greatest challenge?

Well, we have to solve the secret of heart disease and, of course, we must find a preventive and a cure for cancer.

But there also are many other problems facing our doctors and researchers. One of the biggest is the challenge of the virus. Among all our infectious processes, virus diseases present the greatest unsolved problem.

Different Diseases

Viruses can cause at least 50 different diseases. While they seldom bring death, they do cause enormous physical and financial burdens to everyone. Each year about 5,000,000,000 (yes, that's five billion) man-days are lost in this country because of virus diseases.

The average American can expect to be stricken by some sort of virus disease from four to six times this year.

Tremendous Problem

Most of you can expect to be affected by virus diseases for 10 per cent of your lives. If you live to the age of 65—and statistics say most of you will—you probably will spend 6½ years of your lifetime suffering from virus diseases. See why it's such a tremendous problem?

Virus diseases can be mild or serious. We generally accept such ailments as chickenpox, measles, mumps, colds, influenza and various forms of pneumonia as inevitable. The more severe forms include paralytic polio and even rabies, which, if not treated in time, is always fatal.

Little Protection

Despite all our medical advances, we can provide effective protection against only five or six of the 50 virus diseases. With the wonderful Salk vaccine we could just about wipe out paralytic polio. With other inactivated virus vaccines we can prevent influenza and rabies.

Vaccines made of active virus can prevent yellow fever and smallpox. And we can give temporary protection against hepatitis and measles by using gamma globulin.

But we can't prevent the common cold and the long list of other virus diseases.

Some Encouragement

However, a recent issue of "Public Health Reports" gives some encouragement. Dr. Frank L. Horsfall, Jr., physician-in-chief of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research in New York City, reports development of new synthetic chemical compounds which are "highly effective" against various viruses in experiments with animals.

Perhaps it won't be so long before we can prevent, treat and even cure virus diseases.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

A. T.: One doctor told me that I had diverticulosis. Another said I had diverticulitis. What is the difference?

Answer: Diverticulosis is a disease in which there are small out-pocketings of the large intestine at various places. A person may have as many as one hundred of these. Usually, there are no symptoms from this disease.

However, if inflammation occurs, the diverticulitis (the out-pocketings) become inflamed and infected and may cause bloody diarrhea with severe pain. There may be chills and fever along with these symptoms.

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon's confidence in his ability to talk on his feet got him into one of the most embarrassing moments of his career: the stoning and spitting inflicted upon him by college students in Lima, Peru.

He knew there might be trouble if he tried to talk to them. He didn't have to go near them. But on his own he decided he would. It wasn't the first time he had faced hostile college youths.

After all, he was an expert in talking to college groups. He had won a prize for doing just that years before.

From the time he first landed in South America late in April Nixon had run into trouble with college boys. Some of them he faced and was so effective that they wound up applauding.

But in Lima it was different.

The student federation of 400-year-old San Marcos University had adopted a resolution — perhaps Communist-inspired — saying Nixon was unwelcome in Peru. It wasn't a personal thing.

They were expressing antagonism to the United States whose policies — particularly economic policies in dealing with Latin Americans — have been under growing criticism. This criticism can hardly be attributed entirely

Romance Revived After 35 Years

GENEVA, N. Y. (AP)—Miss Bertha Habberfield and Harry Duffy, whose romance faded 35 years ago, are now married.

They were brought together again by a delicate operation on Miss Habberfield's eye.

When they split up in nearby Dundee, Duffy moved here, married and went to work for the New York Central Railroad. His wife died. They had no children.

Last January, Miss Habberfield, blind from cataracts, regained the sight of one eye after surgery.

Duffy heard she was at the hospital and stopped to see her. He made daily visits and then proposed.

James Marlow

Peruvian authorities reportedly urged Nixon not to go near the university in Lima because they feared serious trouble. But he went and later said the decision to go was entirely his own.

He explained his reason: his belief in the importance of freedom of speech. When he arrived at the university, he got the stoning and spitting. It became an international incident. President Eisenhower congratulated him on his courage.

Courage it took, but there was something besides courage involved: was it wise for the vice president to expose himself not only to personal danger but through what happened to him, embarrassment for the United States?

Nixon was an expert debater when he went to Whittier College in California and won the Southern California extemporaneous speaking title in 1934.

This ability to think fast and talk on his feet, both eloquently and persuasively, has stood him in good stead throughout his spectacular political career up to this time. And he's still only 45.

It's unlikely what happened in Peru will hurt him politically. It may not help him much politically, either.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ART VAN HORN relays a story about a traveling salesman who got lost in the feudin' country near the Blue Ridge mountains and found refuge with two hillbillies who never had been more than a mile from their primitive shack.

When the salesman left the next day, he gave his hosts a portable radio as a token of appreciation for their hospitality. That night one of the hillbillies, out of curiosity, fiddled with the radio dials. After fumbling with them, he tuned in a speechmaker at a political rally.

At bedtime the politician still was roaring over the radio and the mountaineers didn't know how to turn it off. In desperation one of them picked up an ax and struck the set. The voice stopped. However, it had only jarred the set and the next morning the second hillbilly was awakened by organ music from the radio. He woke his pal.

"You know that guy you killed last night?" he said. "Well, they're burying him today."

Motorist Held Captive on Bridge

TOLEDO (AP) — A freighter had just passed on the Maumee River Monday and bridge tender Ray Fech was lowering the two lift leaves on the Cherry Street Bridge.

From the east end, Richard Kinkaid's car crashed through a guard gate and bounced onto the inclined east side life.

Fech said he was met with verbal abuse so he phoned police, held the automobile captive by keeping the bridge mechanism at half mast.

Kinkaid pleaded innocent in Municipal Court to a drunk driving charge.

Firm's Profit-Sharing Plan Ruled To Be 'Too Generous'

CLEVELAND (AP)—A federal judge called Consolidation Coal Co.'s profit-sharing plan irrational and too generous and ordered the firm not to bring any more employees under the plan.

Judge Charles J. McNamee's opinion said the plan covering more than 40 of the firm's employees enriched the executives beyond the value of their services. His ruling on a lawsuit brought by stockholder Abram J. Berkwitz, 73, of Brookline, Mass., came late Monday—eight years to the day after the suit was filed.

The ruling is expected to set a precedent for other corporations.

George M. Humphrey, former secretary of the treasury, was one of the defendants, as an officer of the company. Judge McNamee ruled in favor of Humphrey and another officer, R. L. Ireland, on Berkwitz's complaint that the two officers had acquired consolidation stock from the company on excessively liberal credit terms.

Humphrey and Ireland were not participants in the profit-sharing plan, so the verdict on that part of the case did not affect them personally.

Also not affected are the employees already covered. None of them were parties to the suit, and McNamee held that his ruling could not affect their prior arrangements with the company.

Berkwitz, a minor stockholder had asked monetary damages, but none was awarded.

The company's "management unit plan" assigned the employees a certain number of units varying from 400 to 10,000. Each unit has a value in dollars based on the current market value of the firm's stock. Originally the units had been valued at $18, and they increased in value to $95.

Whenever dividends were declared, an employee was credited with the amount of dividend he would have received if each unit had been a share of stock.

Up to this point McNamee agreed with the defendants that the plan was not out of line with incentive programs in other industries.

But he attacked a feature of the plan which provided that the employee, on leaving the company, could receive a bonus measured by the increased market value of the stock from the time his units were assigned.

Thus an employee who entered the plan when the stock was valued at $18 and left the company at the end of last year would have received a bonus for each unit equal to the difference between $18 and $95.

The judge called the profit-sharing plan a misuse of corporate funds.

Underground Park Group Optimistic

COLUMBUS (AP)—Rejection of its test case by the Ohio Supreme Court hasn't discouraged the Underground Parking Commission from trying to build a 1,200-car garage under the statehouse grounds, says its chairman.

William Knepper said Monday that procedure for issuing $5 million worth of revenue bonds is being studied. The bonds would pay for the underground project.

The commission tried to test the constitutionality of the law which created it by filing suit in the Ohio Supreme Court last fall.

But the court declined to consider the suit.

1812 Daughters Enjoy Picnic In Crawford Home

Thirty-five members and guests of the Major Samuel Myers chapter, U. S. Daughters of 1812, enjoyed an evening picnic in the home of Mrs. V. F. Crawford Monday.
Mrs. Loren D. Hynes, president, presided informally and introduced Mrs. Donald H. Watt of Circleville, honor guest and speaker of the afternoon.
Mrs. Watt's talk was on "Trivets" and she displayed her own collection of more than 70.
Early settlers brought both crude iron trivets and ornamental ones when they came to this country, the speaker said.
Mrs. Watt has one 150-year-old heart shaped trivet in her collection; two doll-size trivets and several of round and square design.
A brief report from the Ohio State Council of the National Society, U. S. Daughters of 1812, was given by Mrs. J. Earl McLean.
This chapter, with its 65 members, is the largest of the 19 Ohio chapters.
The invocation was given by Mrs. John F. Dial, chaplain.
A round robin card was signed and sent to Mrs. Harry Rankin, a member who has been ill.
Lilies and tulips were in lavish display throughout the Crawford home.
Mrs. Crawford was assisted by the May hostess group which included Mrs. Frank Michael, Mrs. Ervin P. Miller, Miss Catherine Gossard, Mrs. Vere C. Foster, Mrs. Thomas H. Parrett, Mrs. Robert Jefferson, Mrs. Cecil Van Zant, Mrs. Frank Mayo, Mrs. Ernest Leeka and Miss Nancy Leeka.
Guests enjoying the afternoon picnic were Mrs. Mary Gillespie, Mrs. Walter Morrow, Mrs. Robert Zimmerman, Mrs. Elton Elliott, Mrs. Leo Hartman, Mrs. John Groff and Mrs. Watt.
Mrs. Harold Haworth of Wilmington and Mrs. Paul D. Fairley of Greenfield were out of town members present.

Spring Banquet of Mother's Circle Is Held In Country Club Monday

"Candlelight" was the theme used for the 41st spring banquet of Mother's Circle in the Country Club Monday night.
Several vases of beautiful spring flowers and greenery centered each table with candles of all colors decorated with dainty spring flowers and a pair of candles at each place setting.
The programs were in contrasting colors adorned with a tiny candle tied with a miniature floral arrangement and white ribbon.
Members and guests gathered around the punch bowl for "friendship time" preceding the dinner.
Mrs. John Rhoads, toastmistress, opened with a reading referring to a mother's influence being like a "candlelight" guiding her child through life.
The invocation was given by Mrs. Joseph L. Herbert.
Mrs. Rhoads introduced Mrs. Richard K. Willis Jr., last year's president, as a candle of guiding light in the circle's projects and philanthropic work the past two years.
In her welcome, Mrs. Willis introduced two new members, Mrs. Richard Arnett and Mrs. Charles W. Mustine. Mrs. Willis asked the nine past presidents who were present to stand, at which time she gave a short history of the work done in the years they were president.
Mrs. Jack Hagerty, chairman of the philanthropic committee, presented a scholarship award to Miss Jean Conaway, a guest at the banquet. Miss Conaway expressed her thanks and appreciation to the circle.
Mrs. Omar Schwartz Jr. played a beautiful piano solo, after which Mrs. Rhoads presented Mrs. N. M. Reiff who gave a most interesting "Did You Know" on the "Candle of Learning" with respect to the use of candles in many different countries regarding friendship, religion, weather forecasts, fortune telling and customs where candles are used.
A vocal trio, composed of Mrs. Rhoads, Mrs. Edmond Woodmansee and Mrs. Ernest Stanforth, sang "Candlelight." Mrs. Schwartz was the accompanist.
Mrs. Willis thanked the officers and committees for the past year and told how much Mother's Circle has meant to her. She then introduced the outgoing officers and the new officers for the year to come.
The outgoing officers were Mrs. Joseph Herbert, vice president; and Mrs. George Finley, press reporter.
Mrs. Jane Coffman was presented as the president-elect; Mrs. John Bailey, vice president; Mrs. Robert Link, secretary; Mrs. Clarence Hayes, treasurer; and Mrs. Gene Sagar, press reporter.
The gavel was presented to Mrs. Coffman and in her closing remarks she asked Mrs. Robert Green to discuss a library project of a "Reading Club Circle." Members voted to support the project.
The social committee in charge of the gala affair consisted of Mrs. John Bath, chairman; Mrs. Frank Weade, co-chairman; Mrs. George Trimmer, Mrs. Hugh Rea, Mrs. Hugh Payton, Mrs. Dustin Gorton, Mrs. Herbert Sollars and Mrs. Billie Wilson.
The enjoyable evening was closed with the playing of games. The beautifully decorated table candles were given as prizes.

BHS Seniors Prepare Papers On Variety of Subject Matter

BLOOMINGBURG — Seniors at BHS, in order to graduate with their credit in English 12, have to write a research paper on any subject which they may choose.

The requirements are that they (1) consult at least three references, (2) use at least one direct quotation, properly acknowledged, (3) prepare a bibliography correctly, and (4) write at least 1,500 words.

Most of the seniors this year have far exceeded these requirements; one had 85 pamphlets, plus about 10 books and periodicals which she had consulted, and another had 54 pages in her first draft.

Generally they begin to think about the topic early in the senior year and to determine the availability of reference material. One girl this year wanted to write about the possibilities of a modeling career, but she was unable to find enough source matter.

After the topics are chosen and approved by the teacher, the class reviews outlining, not-taking, and the use of library facilities in finding material. The staff of Carnegie Library is always extremely helpful in showing the students how to use library help.

The outlines are checked with the teacher, then the first drafts are written and these, too, checked very carefully by the students in individual conferences with the instructor. Finally the papers are typed and handed in for grading, then filed at the school. The general procedure follows that used in preparation of the thesis for the master's degree from a college.

Although students spend much time on this project, almost all of them feel they have gained much benefit from the experience. They learn to use reference sources and to organize materials. Writing the paper and correcting their errors review what they have learned previously about composition and grammar. Those who are going to college benefit especially from the experience of preparing such a paper.

WE THOUGHT it would be interesting to name the topics which this year's seniors chose. Here they are:

Kenny Anderson — "The Automobile and Its Development"; Beverly Evans — "Interior Decorating and Architecture"; Betty Farmer — "Horses"; Bob Grimm — "United States Money"; Don Hidy — "Elementary Physical, Chemical, and Mathematical Formulae"; Bill Huff — "Football"; Thelma Kneisley — "Birds"; Larry McArthur — "Rocketry"; Larry Oberschlake — "Installing a V-8 Engine in Your Model A"; Nancy Owens — "The Dayton Power and Light Co."; Bob Riley — "Baseball"; Dave Roberts — "Birth and Development in Our Nation" (a history of the 4-H clubs); Patty Smith — "Juvenile Delinquency"; Jack Stultz — "History of Bloomington"; Jessie VanDyne — "Hairstyling"; Glenna Watkins — "Hypnotism"; Pattie Weaver — "Cosmetics"; Ella Winfield — "WACS"; Woody Fridley — "Highway Patrol".

NAME OMITTED

Due to a misunderstanding the name of Chuck McCoy of the seventh grade has been omitted from the straight "A" list for the past two six-weeks periods.

SAFETY SLOGAN CONTEST

The Eighth Grade has held a safety slogan contest under the guidance of their teacher, Mr. White, who has announced the following winners:

First place — Alice Craig, for her slogan:

"You must be careful
In all you do,
Or your life could
Suddenly be through."

Second Place — Rosella Trenner: "Slow down and live, for safety is the way."

Don't be a hog on the great highway."

Third Place — Joyce Cannon: "A baby's three W's — Watch, Work, and Wisten."

Civil Rights Studies Sought by Advisers

COLUMBUS — The governor's Advisory Commission on Civil Rights is going to try to find copies of all existing studies of the employment status of minority groups in Ohio. That's the first step in a program outline approved Monday by the commission's steering committee.

Ohio's Status On Roads Eyed

State Ahead on Plans, Behind on Production

WASHINGTON — Ohio leads the nation in the progress of its interstate roads building program, but trails a number of states in mileage near completion.

A spokesman for the public roads bureau said today there is nothing contradictory about this.

"What we measure a state's program by is the money it has obligated for roads," he said. "Using that as a standard, Ohio is at the top of the heap."

"You can't really tell much by comparing mileage in the different states. The cost of construction varies so much."

Latest figures at the roads bureau, dated March 31, 1958, show Ohio had a total of $114,676,000 obligated for 98.4 miles of the interstate system.

The same table shows that only 31.6 miles of this are in some stage of completion—either graded or actually paved.

Another factor to be considered is that the states have varying mileages to complete in the interstate system in the allotted 13-year period.

Ohio's mileage is 1,344, whereas Texas is 2,889 miles, more than twice the length.

One stretch of interstate mileage that will not be eligible for federal aid is the Ohio Turnpike.

This, like other turnpikes, is expected to remain a toll road until the bonds are paid off. Once it becomes a free road, the state will then be eligible for federal assistance.

"By that time," the roads bureau spokesman said, "perhaps the traffic will have grown so much that another lane each way will have to be added."

FORD SUNLINER...
America's glamorous,
best-selling soft top

FORD SKYLINER...
World's only retractable hardtop

Why people who love CONVERTIBLES buy FORD

Only Ford lets you choose from a steel-top convertible or a fabric-top beauty. Who else but Ford... world's largest convertible maker... could offer you two different kinds of convertibles. There's the fabric-top Ford Sunliner and the steel-top Ford Skyliner... world's only retractable hardtop. They're both styled and powered in the Thunderbird tradition. You'll see at a glance why they're both the value leaders of the convertible world.

Nowhere else can you find so much convertible for so little money. Take the Ford Sunliner for example. A comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail delivered prices shows it's America's lowest-priced convertible. Yet Ford's closest competitor can't touch the Sunliner for rear seat leg room, trunk space or ease of top operation. As for the Skyliner, it's the world's only 2-in-1 fine car... a snug steel-top and a breezy convertible. Just touch a button. The all-steel top vanishes smoothly into the rear deck... and you're sitting pretty in the smartest convertible ever. It's another example of the advanced engineering you get in every Ford car.

So if you're the sun-worshipping type, better see your Ford Dealer and get all the reasons why Ford outsells its nearest competitor in convertibles by a whopping 2-to-1 margin!

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

It has been 42 years since Fayette County's greatest horseman of his day passed away, and at his death he owned 116 head of horses, including many of race blood and many Western horses.

He was Charles Campbell who lived in the large brick homestead now occupied by Clarence L. Campbell, a son, on the Lewis Rd., 100 yards northwest of the Lewis — Devalon Rd. intersection.

Charles Campbell was a great lover of good horses, as well as the wild mustangs from the West.

For years he had a training track in the triangle at the intersection of the Lewis and Devalon Rds., bounded on the north by Catfish Ditch.

It was not a large track, but it was of sufficient size to train his horses, and I recall that as a youngster I saw him training his horses on the privately owned oval.

So far as I recall it was the only private training track in the county, and was used extensively for this phase of producing good race horses.

Campbell loaned many of his horses to neighbors and others, and this was done so extensively that he lost record of some who obtained the horses, and never got them back.

He imported and sold many Western animals, and Harry Hill's cowboys frequently went to the Campbell farm to ride some of the bucking broncos and possibly to buy a Western horse for their performance in the Hill show.

Campbell St. in Washington C. H. was named after Charles Campbell, who was a son of Lexington Campbell, well known in the city and county.

Wherever there was a horse sale or stock sale Charles Campbell was invariably there, and it was said that he knew more about horses than nearly any one else in this part of the country. From his large stables came many good racers.

BRICK MADE ON SPOT

In my visits throughout the county I have noticed brick used in many of the large residences and some of the business blocks were made in improvised brick plants nearby.

In many instances the depressions from which clay was obtained to make the brick are still in evidence — proof that most of the old brick homes in the county are made from native soil.

Of course a great many of the structures, particularly the smaller brick buildings, were constructed of block made at established plants, and there were numbers of brick and tile plants in the community in the earlier days, say 100 years and more ago.

In producing brick the soil and clay were mixed into a thick mud, molded by hand in small wooden frames which usually held three bricks at a time, placed on a drying rack, and then burned for at least 24 hours in a kiln. The kilns used "on the spot" were usually makeshift and very crude, but they seem to have done the work.

Wood was abundant and was used to fire the brick, or bake them, and I have heard of one instance in which the brick were burned by piling logs and limbs about sundried brick, and burning them in that fashion instead of covering with earth and firing them.

MUSHROOMS ABUNDANT

I have been informed by some of the mushroom lovers that they have been very successful in finding large numbers of edible specimens in the community during recent wet weather.

One or two have said they had little luck in locating this delicacy, but apparently had not chosen the right spot to look for them.

Personally I never gather mushrooms to eat, for unless one really knows them, they may gather deadly toadstools.

Chief among the edible mushrooms in this area is the morel, or sponge mushroom.

SLATE ROOFS DURABLE

Many of the older buildings in the city and community were covered with slate roofs. Some of these roofs are in good condition even though they have had little attention since they were laid from 75 to 125 years ago.

A good example of this is seen on the present Union Bus Station formerly the C&MV passenger station, Main and East Sts.

That structure was built when the old Cincinnati, Wilmington and Zanesville Railroad was built in 1853, or 105 years ago.

Likewise the slate roof on the old freight station of the same railroad is in good condition, although the structure was not built until many years after the passenger station was erected.

The passenger station was built of clay brick made in the southern part of the city, but the freight station was made of a type of sand and shale brick not produced until later, and probably came from the plant of the Columbus Brick and Terra Cotta Co., at Union Furnace, in Hocking County.

The foundation of the freight station was made of Fairfield County sandstone, and on the south side this has weathered away several inches in many places.

Nixon Goodwill Trip Cancellation Denied

WASHINGTON — The White House says President Eisenhower has given no thought to possible cancellation of Vice President Nixon's proposed European goodwill trip.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said he had noted a news dispatch over the weekend saying that the Eisenhower administration was considering cancellation of the tour because of demonstrations against Nixon during his current visit to South American countries.

An Associated Press dispatch of May 11 reported that the administration may take another look at the proposed Nixon trip in view of the incidents in South America.

Fayette County Nomenclature

Is Your Name COE?

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles on Fayette County surnames and their derivations. They are prepared by The Fact Bureau, McReesport, Pa., especially for The Record-Herald.

COE, an old and honored surname, is principally of English origin. It is an old name for the jackdaw, a crow-like bird.

It owes its usage as a surname to the fact that in ancient and medieval times, when the majority of the people were illiterate, it was the custom for innkeepers and owners of stores and other establishments to identify their places of business with a readily distinguishable sign.

Such a sign might carry the picture of a "coe" or jackdaw, and thus "John atte COE" signified "John whose place of business was at the sign of the COE." Eventually "atte" was dropped and the name became JOHN COE.

AARON COE (1731-1794) and EBENEZER COW (1735-1820) served as captains respectively in the Massachusetts and Connecticut troops during the Revolutionary War.

A genealogy of the descendants of MATTHEW COE, who came from England and settled in Portsmouth, N. H., in 1645, was compiled by HENRY F. COE of Boston and published in 1894.

ANOTHER GENEALOGY is entitled "ROBERT COE, Puritan, His Ancestors And Descendants, 1340-1910. With Notices of Other COE Families." It was compiled by J. Gardner Bartlett of Boston, Mass., and published in 1911.

There are 31 listings of persons by the name of COE in the latest directory of Phi Beta Kappa, the honorary scholastic society.

HENRY CLARKE COE (1856-1940), a distinguished physician and surgeon, was professor of gynecology at Bellevue Hospital Medical College, New York City.

FRANK WINSTON COE (1870-1947) was major general, U. S. Army.

JOHN ALLEN COE (1868 - 1948) of Waterbury, Connecticut was chairman of the board of directors, American Brass Co.

SIDNEY W. COE is vice president, Irving Trust Co., New York City.

CONWAY P. COE was U. S. Commissioner of Patents from 1933 to 1945 and is now vice president, Radio Corporation of America.

CHARLES NORTON COE is professor and head of the Department of Humanities, University of Idaho.

Village To Lose Its Lone Industry

BOWLING GREEN — A spokesman for National Gypsum Co. says its plant at Puckey will be shut down permanently within a few days and put up for sale.

The plant employs 100 and is Luckey's only industry. Another industrial plant at Luckey, operated by Brush-Beryllium Co., is being deactivated with its activities moving to a $4½ million facility near Elmore.

John C. Downey, manager of National Gypsum's Gibsonburg plant, said demand for lime products is not sufficient to warrant continued operation of the Luckey factory. He said only a few of the affected employees will be absorbed in the Gibsonburg operation.

The Japanese government is paying for the price of increased milk to school children to get rid of surplus milk production.

Bloomington Pre-School Clinic To Be Friday

BLOOMINGBURG — Next year's Bloomington School first graders will get a real taste of school life at the annual pre-school clinic here Friday.

They'll spend the day without momma.

Parents of the future school children are to leave their youngsters at the school at 9 a. m. The youngsters will be squired through some of the routine of a normal school day, they'll be given a health examination by a Fayette County Health Department nurse, and they'll be shipped home by bus.

"We like to have the youngsters here by themselves so they can get an idea of what it will be like," Principal G. H. Biddle explained.

Youngsters must come bearing proof that they will be six years old before Nov. 1, 1958.

Weep no more for Willie, now that Mays has unfrocked those Los Angeles Dodgers and discovered they're his old Brooklyn buddies.

After 22 games with San Francisco this season, Willie was batting a dandy .372, but folks were concerned. The kid who had led the Giants in home runs and runs-batted-in for four years had only nine extra-base hits, only one a homer, while knocking in just nine runs.

Then he recognized those Dodgers, the guys he's always killed, and Willie started belting. In three games against Los Angeles he's rapped five home runs, driven in 11.

Mays hit a pair of homers, one his second grand slam in the majors, and had five RBI Monday night as the Giants ripped the Dodgers 12-3 and moved back within a half-game of the National League lead with their fifth straight victory.

It was the fourth consecutive defeat for the Dodgers, who plunked into the cellar for the first time since July 2, 1948. St. Louis Cardinals quit a three-week stay in eighth place by winning their fifth in a row, 6-4 at Chicago, in the only other game scheduled.

Stan Musial doubled for his 2,999th hit, but after grounding out three times was "benched for hitting" by Manager Fred Hutchinson for today's game with the Cubs. Unless he's needed as a pinch-hitter, the Cards figure to save The Man's 3,000th hit for the home fans.

Mays triggered a 17-hit attack as the Giants made it five in a row over Los Angeles. Daryl Spencer also counted two homers. Ruben Gomez won his third, all against the Dodgers, with a six-hit and fanned 10 to take the NL strikeout lead with 32.

Mays tagged loser Don Drysdale (1-6) for his first homer in the third. Then he cleared the left field screen at the Coliseum by plenty on a bases-loaded pitch from Ed Roebuck that capped a six-run fifth in which all the runs were unearned.

A four-run fifth, on four singles and two errors, bagged it for the Cards as right-hander Phil Paine collected a 2-0 record in two days. Glen Hobbie was the loser, blowing a 3-0 lead after Ernie Banks hit his seventh homer, with a man on, in the third.

The first home run was the toughest for Neil Chrissy. Four games ago he never had hit one in the majors. Now he has three for Washington, and it's no coincidence that the Senators are still second in the American League, two games from the top.

The 25-year-old outfielder, traded out of the Boston Red Sox farm system to the Nats in 1955, was up 51 times without a homer as a rookie last season. He didn't get one in his first 14 at-bats this season.

Now he's hit three in seven trips, hauling the Senators to a 5-4 victory over the Red Sox Monday night on a shot that bounced off center fielder Jim Piersall's glove into the bleachers at Griffith Stadium for a two-run homer.

A home run won for Kansas City, too, as Woody Held picked one in the 11th that beat the Chicago White Sox 2-1 and ended the A's losing string at six in the only other game scheduled.

Chrissy, carried as a pinch-hitter by the Nats, has banged his homers in three games.

Chrissy started Monday night's game and cracked a 3-3 tie with his homer, giving the Senators a 6-1 record against the Red Sox. Dick Hyde won his third with a six-hit, five-strikeout job over 5 1/3 innings in relief of Hal Griggs.

The game was delayed an hour and 15 minutes by a power failure at Washington.

Ray Moore nursed a 1-0 White Sox lead for seven. The A's tied it on Bill Tuttle's triple and a sacrifice fly by Hector Lopez in the eighth. Held was the first man reliever Gerry Staley faced. Murry Dickson won his second with four innings of hitless relief.

Second baseman Nellie Fox of the Sox was spiked and sprained an ankle making a diving tag on Bob Cerv in the fourth inning.

Top Bowlers Here Presented Awards

Awards were presented to the outstanding teams and individuals of the league bowling season which has just ended and officers for the coming season were elected at the annual bowling banquet in the Club Rio Monday night.

Around 100 bowlers, who had smacked the pins at Bowland night after night all winter, were gathered around the banquet tables to ring down the curtain on one season and lay plans for raising it on the next.

Jack Daves, who was re-elected president of the Washington C. H. Bowling Assn., presided at the meeting.

In the election, Jerry Warner was chosen for the coming season's vice president; Glenn Yerian for the treasurer and Clarence Christman was retained for secretary, the big job of the association.

Tony Capuana, Country Club golf pro in the summer and a co-ordinator of activities at Bowland in the winter, Bill Barrett and Carl Noon, one of the association's veteran and most consistent bowlers, were named on the advisory committee.

THEN CAME the presentation of awards to the winning teams of the leagues and to the individuals who turned in the top games and averages.

Team winners were: Link Construction Co. of the Fraternal League; Club Rio of the Commercial League; Bowersville of the Lions League; Bryant Restaurant of the Classic League and Pure Oil Co. of the Merchants League.

Ellars (Farm Bureau), 178.

Those who did not make it will go back to the minors for at least another year.

BOYS WHO were selected Monday night are expected to contact their manager by telephone as soon as possible to get notice of the practice schedule and other information they will need to get ready for the coming season.

Here's a list of the boys selected: RECORD-HERALD FLASHES (John Breiner, Tel. 3-6731) — Ronnie Wilson, 10, David Martin, 10, Gary Knisley, 10, Jimmy Everhart, 11, and Don Slagle, 12.

Managers "buy" players with points under the league's auction system. Each manager is allotted a limited number of points, each season, and so managers can't pour great quantities of "points" into the purchase of one player unless they want to do it at the expense of other purchases.

Roughly 260 boys, most of them from minor league teams but some of them altogether new to little league circles, tried out for the six major league teams at the annual spring tryout sessions Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Monday.

Seghi Named as Boss Of Redleg Farm Plans

CINCINNATI (U-P) — Phil Seghi, who joined the Cincinnati Redlegs administration three years ago, is the new director of the team's minor league farm system, succeeding Bill McKeechie Jr.

McKeechie resigned Monday because of ill health and said he will move to Florida to enter private business, but will continue as a part-time Redleg scout.

Seghi has been acting farm director for the past six weeks.

10 Rounds of Golf Take Man 12 Hours

WICHITA, Kan. (U-P) — Jim Hershberger, 28-year-old truck line operator, toured a golf course 10 times Monday and finished 170 strokes over par.

It took Hershberger 12 hours and 51 minutes with a brief timeout for treatment of a wrenched knee. His score was 88; for the 180 holes. He did the marathon stint on a dare.

Master's Musky

OVER PAR is the easiest description for the 12 lb., 14 oz., 36 1/2 inch muskellunge taken from Rocky Fork Lake at 5:30 a. m. Saturday by Robert Seymour, left, 932 S. Hinde St. Seymour and friend, Frank Burris, right, of Columbus, were casting off the bank, using soft craws as bait. The fish was landed near the point.

33 (Out of 260) Chosen for Majors

A total of 33 boys — not quite 15 percent of the 260 who tried out — have been "purchased" by Little Major League baseball teams to play in the charmed circuit at Wilson Field this summer.

The 33 were selected by the managers to fill out the rosters of the six little major league clubs at a player auction in the offices of the Armo Drainage and Metal Products Co. Monday night. Max Lawrence and B. M. Marlin supervised the auction.

Virtually every one of the ball players, excluding a handful of 8-year-olds, have played at least one season of minor league ball. Some have been waiting several years for their chance at the major loop.

Largest single contingent went to Charles Reinke, manager of the Med-O-Pure Cowboys, who bought seven boys to round out his team. Reinke lost six 12-year-olds at the end of last season. Smallest number went to Mac Dews, Jr., who purchased three for the Sunshine Cubs.

Tigers Triumph In Twin Tilts

Two Clinton County Teams Are Victims

JEFFERSONVILLE — Jeffersonville's baseball Tigers, keeping in shape for the regional tournament which starts Friday, trumped the Port William powerhouse, 3-2, in the first game of a doubleheader Monday afternoon. Then, just to prove it wasn't a fluke, they came back and nipped Simon Kenton, 5-4, in the nightcap.

Precision pitching by a couple of classy chukkers kept fans edgy through the Port William game, which the Tigers sealed in the first inning. Between them, the opposing hurlers gave up only six hits over the seven-inning route.

Dave Groves, Jim Cook and Jim Smith picked up the runs for Jeff in the first game. Smith got two of Jeff's four hits, as Larry O'Call and Harvey Minney picked up one each.

Three costly Port William errors helped Jeff take the win.

Simon Kenton held the lead almost all the way through the second game, when sophomore pitcher Ed Juillerat got off to a bad start and gave up four runs in the first two innings. It was Smith who saved the day with a three-run homer in the fifth.

Juillerat, after giving up six hits in the first two tough frames, tightened up and gave up only three more in the rest of the game.

Coach Bob Hildreth said Tuesday that the Tigers will play at least one more game before going into the regional against Perry-Zane Friday. He said he hadn't booked an opponent for certain yet, but he had a couple of possibilities for Wednesday afternoon.

LEBANON (U-P) — Two long shots turned in the only surprise victories at Lebanon Raceway Monday night, but they combined for a $292 daily double.

By JACK AYER

THUNDER ALONG THE OHIO

More money will go up for grabs on six days down at River Downs than many good Washington C. H. burghers bring home in a year, a communique from Dade Heat, our two-legged horse-racing expert informs us. Possession of a two-year-old filly and a three-year-old — provided they are the right ones — could make the summer heat a lot more bearable than usual, Dade reports.

He refers, we judge, to the six feature races set to be run at River Downs between June 7 and July 19. If that's the case, he talks sense — there's $21,500 added to those six stakes.

The Symphony Stakes, to which $3,000 has been added, is a two-year-old filly feature, five furlongs long. Along with the Ohio Valley Stakes, to be run July 12 with $3,000, it's the only two-year-old race on the books.

There's $3,500 attached to the Kentucky Handicap, set for June 14, featuring three-year-olds and upward. Three $4,000 races — the Verdant Handicap June 21, the Cincinnati Handicap July 19, and the Queen City Handicap July 4 — will feature three-year-olds and upward, also.

Dade also points out that the values of all races to be run during the 44-day season at River Downs will be higher than if a considerable amount of the more than $500,000 to be distributed were set aside for one or two stakes. The value of one or two could soar while the program suffered, he observes.

For the holiday opening and on Saturdays when a stakes is not down for decision, the value of the day's feature will range from $2,000 to $3,000. The program will permit frequent appearances of the better horses among close to 1,000 expected for the meeting, and special emphasis will be placed on racing over the longer distances and on the turf.

Fare Poorly in Dashes

Lion Cindermen Nip Hurricane; Sweep Both Relays, High Jump

The Washington High School tracksters added another to their lengthening string of victories here Monday, nipping an unimpressive Wilmington cinder squad, 69-47, in a two-way meet.

The Lion thincads took first in the high hurdles, the mile, both relays, the 880-yd. run, the broad jump and the high jump.

Wilmington's best events were the 100-yd. dash and the 220-yd. dash, in both of which the Lions took only third. Other first places went to Wilmington in the 440-yd. dash, the low hurdles, the shot put, the pole vault and the discus.

Closest finishes were recorded in the high hurdles, where the Lions won by a tenth of a second, the 440-yd. dash, which Wilmington took by two tenths, and the discus where four inches gave the Hurricane the advantage.

HERE'S THE scoring: 120-yd. high hurdles — Striblen (Was) 17.7, Flee (Was) and Gregory (Wil);

100-yd. dash — Pobst (Wil) 11.2, Walston (Wil) and Reno (Was); Mile run — James (Was) 5:19.5, Armbrust (Was) and Marshall (Wil);

Half mile relay — Washington C. H., 1:43.3;

440-yd. dash — Pobst (Wil) 57.5, Thomas (Was) and Flee (Was);

180-yd. low hurdles — Mustard (Wil) 23.8, Crissinger (Was) and Gregory (Wil);

880-yd. run — Foster (Was) 2:20.5, James (Was) and Marshall (Wil);

220-yd. dash — Stout (Wil) 24.7, Pobst (Wil) and Thomas (Was);

Shot put — Bias (Wil) 39' 5", Striblen (Was) and Mustard (Wil);

Broad jump — Thomas (Was)

17' 2", Callender (Was) and Marshall (Wil);

Pole vault — Mullit (Wil) 9' 6", Summers (Was), Potter and Pavey (Was) TIE FOR THIRD;

High jump — Thomas (Was) 5' 2", Lee (Was) and Summers (Was); Discus — Bias (Wil) 110' 4", Striblen (Was) and Foster (Was).

Builders Respect Man's Best Friend

VIRGINIA, Minn. — Sport, who stole the hearts of his owners before he died seven years ago, will remain undisturbed in his grave.

A construction crew building a road to a telephone company microwave substation north of here came upon the dog's grave last week while cutting timber.

The wooden marker, engraved with the inscription, "Sport, he stole our hearts, but his maker took him back, June 19, 1951," apparently moved the workmen.

The road was rerouted.

Missionary-Hero Dies at Age 74

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — Dr. Corydon M. Wassell, the modest medical missionary whose heroism during World War II was the theme of a novel and motion picture, died in his apartment of a heart attack Monday. He was 74.

As a lieutenant commander in World War II, Wassell evacuated 12 badly wounded men under heavy Japanese gunfire, saving them from certain capture. He won the Navy Cross for the deed.

James Hilton, the novelist, wrote "The Story of Dr. Wassell."

Born here, Wassell became a medical missionary to China.

Expense Reports Are Due June 20

Elections Board Advises Candidates

Candidates and committees in Fayette County which were for or against candidates or issues in the primary election May 6, are advised that 4 p. m. June 20 is the deadline for filing reports of receipts and expenditures.

The Fayette County Board of Elections calls attention to the fact, however, that any candidate for committeeman of either party, who had no opposition, is not required to file.

The Ohio General Assembly, at its last session, amended the law to make the filing mandatory within the time prescribed and also provided that failure of a candidate to file a statement within that time would disqualify that person from becoming a candidate in any future election for a period of five years.

ALL STATEMENTS must be accompanied by receipts for any expenditures over $25.

Candidates for county, district or state office who did not receive or expend, directly or indirectly, any money or thing of value in connection with their campaign, must file a sworn statement to that effect, with the same deadline and penalty applying.

County candidates will file statements with their County Board of Elections; candidates for district offices with the board of the most populous county of their district (except candidates for Congress) and candidates for state office and for representative to Congress who file with the Secretary of State.

Farm Trucks Involved in Triple Crash

Three two-ton, farm-type trucks were involved in a chain-reaction crash at 8:30 a. m. Tuesday when the lead vehicle stopped behind a school bus which was loading children on the CCC Highway about a mile south of Madison Mills according to sheriff's deputies.

The school bus was not struck, but one of the three north bound trucks was a total wreck. None of the drivers was injured.

Romain V. Croker, 43, of 435 S. North St., was the driver of the lead truck which stopped just behind the bus. George L. Moomaw, 51, Greenfield, came to a halt with his truck just behind Croker.

THE THIRD TRUCK, driven by Alva Paul Lances, 37, Greenfield, didn't get stopped. It plowed into the rear of the Moomaw truck, according to sheriff's deputies, shoving the latter into the rear of the truck driven by Croker. The dual-wheel truck driven by Lances was a total wreck, deputies said but only minor damage was done to the other two vehicles.

Lances and Moomaw were going to Columbus after fertilizer, deputies said.

Leaving a parking space in front of the Fayette Theater, 131 S. Fayette St., James H. Chakeres, Columbus Rd., backed his auto against an empty car parked in a restricted zone. The fender-bender mishap occurred at 10 p. m. Monday. The owner of the parked car was not identified by police.

WHS Athletic Board To Meet Wednesday

A financial report, plans for football ticket sales and discussion of the basketball budget for next year, will highlight the regular meeting of the Washington C. H. High School athletic board at 8 p. m. Wednesday in the office of Superintendent W. A. Smith.

Scheduling of the session will cause postponement of the regular Wednesday adult volleyball program in the high school gym.

Members of the athletic board are Robert Terhune and Stanley Dray of the board of education, Supt. Smith, High School Principal N. K. Blosser, Athletic Director Fred Domenico, the coaches and their assistants.

Company M News Notes

An employee of the state highway department, Cpl. Montgomery makes his home at 507 Warren Ave.

Two Reo 2½-ton trucks have been added to the Company M motor pool, bringing the total number of vehicles up to 18. The trucks are valued at $7,049 each.

The unit also received a new M-105 trailer, weighing a ton and a half.

Medals Awarded

To Two from Area

In Spelling Bee

Alice Craig, Bloomingburg eighth grader and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Craig, and Charles Hunter, New Holland seventh grader and son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hunter, who represented their schools in the 20th annual Spelling Bee sponsored by the Columbus Citizen, today have medals and, more important, experience, to show for their participation.

Carolyn Dillon, Knox County eighth grader, was the champion. She was awarded an expense-paid one-week trip to Washington D. C. for two and other prizes.

The majority of the youngsters in the finals had participated in the spelling bee before. This was the first one for Alice and Charles.

The bee is for pupils of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades. Mrs. Craig and Mrs. Hunter were among the parents who attended.

Both written and oral tests were given.

Shed Blaze Laid

To Mower Sparks

Sparks from the exhaust of a lawn mower engine apparently caused the fire which gutted a garage and burned two sheds Monday afternoon on the George Dunn property at White Oak.

Fayette County sheriff's deputies investigated the blaze, which was fought by the Mt. Sterling fire department.

Deputies said Dunn told them the mower engine was running unattended in one of the sheds about the time the fire broke out.

ROGER W. BLANCHARD

Bishop-Elect Accepts South Ohio Position

CINCINNATI — The Episcopal Diocese of Southern Ohio has received acceptance from the Very Rev. Roger W. Blanchard, dean of St. John's Cathedral, Jacksonville, Fla., of his election as bishop coadjutor of the diocese.

Dean Blanchard was elected at the diocesan convention held last week in Columbus.

A delegation representing the convention went to Jacksonville over the weekend to formally inform him of his election.

Before the election can be final, the canons of the church require that a majority of the standing committees and bishops of the dioceses throughout the United States must vote their formal approval. A date for the bishop-elect's consecration has not yet been set. It is expected to be held in the fall.

BISHOP-ELECT BLANCHARD who is 48 years old, has been dean of St. John's since 1955. Prior to that he served for six years as executive secretary, Division of College Work, National Council of the Episcopal Church, U.S.A.

He also has served as rector of Calvary Church, Columbia, Mo., rector of St. Peter's, Beverly, Mass., and assistant at St. Stephen's, Lynn, Mass.

He is married and has three children, a boy and girl in college and another son in high school.

He was a star athlete and nationally-known football player at Boston University, where he received his B.A. in 1932. He graduated from Episcopal Theological School in 1936.

The bishop of Southern Ohio, the Rt. Rev. Henry Wise Hobson will retire in May, 1959, at which time he will be succeeded by the bishop coadjutor.

4-H Livestock Judging Contest Set for Fair by 4-H Council

A 4-H livestock judging contest will be held Friday, July 25, at 9 a. m. at the Fayette County Fair this year. This was decided by the 4-H Council at its meeting Monday night in the Extension Service Office.

For the past two years, a judging contest for agricultural club members has been held on Tuesday of Fair week. Due to the incoming livestock during the judging contest there was so much confusion the judging was rescheduled for Friday as necessary move for an orderly contest.

This year the agricultural clubs are being asked to send one or two teams of three members each to judge dairy, sheep, swine and beef. The winning team members each will receive a plaque furnished by a feed company. The second place team will be given a $5 cash award.

A SERIES of committee reports was submitted by Mrs. John U. Cannon on the 4-H parties which were held April 26 and May 3.

Mrs. Joe Loudner reported on the grooming clinics on April 16 and April 23 and a progress report on the awards committee work was made by Mrs. Frank Dill.

Evaluation of the parties and grooming clinics by Council was aimed at improvement and expansion of 4-H activities for 1959.

The awards committee report showed that trophies, gift certificates and cash donations amounting to $1,750 will be given to Junior Fair members at this year's fair. This is in addition to the premium money contributed by the Fair Board.

The 4-H Fair supplement was discussed and Council members suggested various items, which in their opinion, should go into it. It will be finished and sent to advisors early in June.

The health committee initiated planning for the physical examinations of 4-H club members in the health improvement contest.

ASSOCIATE County Agent Phil Grover reported that "it appears at this time that 4-H enrollment will be almost identical with 1957."

He stated, "This year we will be stressing improvement in quality rather than quantity."

Grover also reported that to date 25 reservations have been received for district senior 4-H camp June 2 - 7.

In reporting on the ear-tagging of market lambs, Grover said he has ear-tagged 129 lambs belonging to 43 4-H club members. The job should be completed this week; there are approximately 20 more club members to visit, he said.

Mrs. Walter Carman presided over the meeting. Mrs. Richard Craig read the minutes.
